Vorwort

Koczwara places sustainability at the core of its corporate philosophy. As an innovative product developer, the company emphasizes sustainable solutions right from the material development stage.

Since 2021, Koczwara has been ClimatePartner-certified and, in 2023, introduced a comprehensive climate strategy. This strategy is based on the pillars of "calculating, offsetting, reducing CO2e footprint, and achieving climate goals" to actively contribute to climate neutrality.

In addition, a detailed sustainability report for the reporting year 2023 was published for the first time, orientated at the ESRS standards. This report provides all stakeholders with a transparent and well-founded overview of the company's progress and initiatives in the field of sustainability. With this, Koczwara Vertriebs-GmbH reinforces its commitment to a sustainable future from product development to responsible business practices.

Products with an Environmental Product Declaration (EPD) are comprehensively analyzed using a Life Cycle Assessment (LCA) based on the cradle-to-grave approach. Detailed information about the environmental impacts, from raw material extraction to disposal, can be provided. The EPD offers a transparent and scientifically sound data foundation for evaluating the ecological performance of the products. This supports decision-making processes in sustainable projects by providing objective and comparable environmental information. The certification is carried out in accordance with ISO 14025:2006 and EN 15804:2012+A2:2019/AC:2021.

Products analyzed as part of a Life Cycle Assessment (LCA) provide comprehensive transparency about their environmental impacts throughout their entire lifecycle. The LCA is required for creating an Environmental Product Declaration (EPD) but also offers deeper insights into the environmental effects of our products and opportunities for optimization. For this reason, we commissioned an LCA from a research institute to support product development. Additionally, the LCA serves as a basis for adapting the EPD to other national regulations, such as the FDES. Feel free to contact us if this is of interest!
